We’re all about learning!

We believe strongly that an educated customer is a successful customer. To that end, we have several options for how you can learn in the onboarding phase and for ongoing continuing education. Here are the offerings for this month.

Digital Credentials and the Future of Talent Management | June 21

Please join Jonathan Finkelstein, founder of Credly and SVP Product Development for Pearson’s Workforce Skills Division, for a discussion about how employers are leveraging the credentials you issue to make more informed talent decisions.

This webinar is open to you and your colleagues. Bring your HR, workforce planning, learning and development or hiring teams and join the discussion. Register here!

NEW: Ask Me Anything Tech Topics | June 22

The team is excited to offer a special tech-related “Ask Me Anything” session for current Credly clients. We are pairing a CSM and a support engineer, for this 90-minute drop-in open to current clients who may have questions around integrations, API, or other technical topics! Register here.

Masterclass: All about Product! | June 28

Curious about some of the newer features such as custom certificates and language versions? How about a new feature to celebrate an earner’s achievement? Colleagues from our Product Team will walk us through what’s been released and what’s in store for us in the future. Masterclasses are scheduled every 1-2 months. Register for this session here!

Help is always a click away

Don’t forget about the Issuer Help Center, too!
